NOTICE: WARNING CONCERNING COPYRIGHT RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is no to be "used for any purpose other that private study, scholarship, or research." If the user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringement.

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law.

Part One Essay Question One (Forty Minutes)

1. Our understanding of the nature of law inevitably affects how we structure legal education and teach law. How have views about the nature of law in America changed from the 1870s to the present and how have those changing perceptions influenced legal education? Similarly, how have perceptions of the nature of law in the Civil Law tradition influenced their approach to legal education today?

Part Two Multiple Choice Questions – Mark Your Answers on the Scantron Sheet

1. In the guest lecture by John Feldman on ADR, which of the following propositions was not advanced:
 - a. One prominent pressure for greater ADR and mediation has been the rise in the amount of litigation.
 - b. The power of arbitration is only limited by the power given by the parties to the arbitration.
 - c. Often the power accorded by the parties to the arbitrator greatly exceeds that possessed by a judge in the formal system of adjudication.
 - d. A key aspect of ADR and mediation is that it resolves the tension between authority and autonomy.
 - e. Privacy is often an important value in the resolution of disputes through ADR and mediation.
